NOTES OF THE WEEK.

The story of Lajos will be continued in our next issue.

Ticket holders for to-night's concert can secure reserved seats at Messrs. J. A. Palmer & Co,s drug store during the day. An article from Mr. Gibson's Book of Sanitary instructions for Hawaiians, on the Human Body, appears in to-day's supplement.

It is proper to remind our readers that the mails for the United States and Europe will definitely close at the Post Office at 4 P. M., this We are sorry to learn that Mr. Thomas Sorenson the well known shipwrigt, is at present confined to his residence, laboring under an attack of bilious fever. Mrs. Partington, on her travels round the world, is now in town. She thinks this must be a very musical community, as she hears of several people who have guitars in their heads The well known policeman Wm. H. Tel, has received a merited promotion, having been appointed to the position so long held by J. H. Mahiai. We take pleasure in noticing the " omotion, and in saying that Mr. Tell has proven himself to be a very worthy, faithful and indefatigable officer. It is among the on dits of our community that His Excellency H. A. P. Carter, is preparing a literary work in relation to the history and diplomacy of the Hawaiian Kingdom. We anticipate from the accomplished pen of this gentleman a very valuable contribution to our Hawaiian literature, on such a subject.

The presentation concert advertised by Messrs Pickering & Co, which has been so long Hawaiian Band will give some of their favorite strains including the popular selection from 'The Piratrs of Penzance."

The Band will play in Emma Square this afternoon at 4.30 P.M. The following is the March-Hunting Call... Overture-The Vestale. .. Faust ...Bishop Ballad-Pilgrim of Love ... Waltz-Pomonia... Selection-Merchant of Venice. Pinsut The next moonlight concerts will take place on Monday June 6th and on Thursday June 9th in Emma Square. According to private advices of May 7th, Messrs. Williams, Dimond & Co., had telegraphed to Sydney, to instruct the captains of P. M. S. steamers not to call at Honolulu, as they will in such case be quarantined in the port of San Francisco 7 or 8 days. However, not prevent their calling here for mails; so that they may save their subsidy. The "Royal Hawaiian Theatre" is de-Alakea streets, where Biscacianti, Madame States, the Carandinis, Florence Colville, and others in past times, and recently the Wells Houses, Lands&Rooms Rented. Troupe, delighted Honolulu theatre goers, is now a mass of building debris; and the present proprietor Dr. McGrew is about to erect a new structure, for public amusement or for other purposes possibly, not yet determined. The latest news from the volcano indicates continued activity, though not of a very demonstrative kind. The extreme end of the flow of lava advances extremely slowly. It is situated a few miles from Hilo, to the eastward of the town and still within the forest. Should it, as seems now so probable, force its way to the sea, it will pass a little to the south of Hil and must do considerable damage to the Wai akea plantation, if it does not entirely destroy it

The present state of the labor market in Honolulu may be judged from the fact that th Chinese who have recently left here for Sa Francisco to the number of about one hundred have been attracted by the report that hands ar wanted on the railways in course of formation is the United States. That there is any surplu labor in Honolulu is however due to the facthat engagements with employers on the other

There will be a contest on Monday evening for the post of Second Assistant Engineer of the Honolulu Fire Department between Messrs. Lewers, Dodd and Lemon. The poll will b open from 7 to 9 A. M., at the Engine House of Mechanic Engine Co. No. 2, Pinafore, as performed by our amateur lyric and dramatic company, has been a continued success, on the occasion of five different representations, the proceeds of which have been devoted to various benefits. The last performance takes place this evening, which will be for the benefit of Fire Company No. 2. We witnessed the performance twice; and had our pleasure, on the first occasion, increased by a second hearing of the operetta by our amateurs, and we doubt not this 6th presentation of Pinafore will be the best of all. Go on this occasion, not only to be well entertained, but to assist a most deserving and important organiza-

A couple of blocks along King Street beyond Mr. Ward's artesian well, Messrs. Cooke and Peddler have made a successful boring for Mr.Loo Ngawk. This new well is about a hundred yards makai of the line of the street, and is intended to supply water to rice fields now being redeemed from waste of the rushes that lies between King Street and the sea. Water was struck at a depth of 602 feet, and a little below that depth a supply was secured at least twice as great as that of Mr. Ward's well. We have some interesting notes on this sabject for next week's issue.

Capt. Brown's Mortuary Report for the month of May, presents only one notable feature viz: the marked decrease in the number of deaths from small-pox. There are only 32 as against 77 in the previous month and 123 in March. Of the deaths from other causes in May 10 are recorded as " from old age." It must be noted with regret that out of ninety-eight deaths, no less than thirty-six were cases in which the deceased received no medical attendance. The number of these unattended cases has often been a subject of remark and it is painful to find the neglect of medical advice so decidedly on the ncrease as this return shows it to be.

A kahuna's bundle, containing what may be called death-charms was found by some boys in one of the streams near town, close to a frequented bathing place. It contained kalo, fish, awa root, sugar cane, etc. The idea of the would-be sorcerer is presumed to have been that the victim, whom he is "praying to death," would go to his usual bathing place and so fall under the influence of the spell to be communicated by the contents of the bundle. The superstition connected with these practices seems still to be as widespread among the natives, as the belief in witchcraft was two hundred years ago in other parts of Christendom.

During the past week one of the patent Odorless Excavators for which Mr. C. O. Berger is the agent in this Kingdom, has been put to work in Honolulu by the Board of Health. The want of a proper receptacle for the nightsoil of the city was immediately felt. To get rid of that removed by the Excavator, a series of holes were dug on unoccupied land mauka of the residences of well known citizens on Beretania street, and the deposit as received there was buried at once. But immediate burial did not prove sufficient to prevent a nuisance arising from this improvised "Manure Depot." Such unbearable odors were developed during the process of discharge into the pits, that the residents in the neighborhood at once besieged the Minister of the Interior who, we are glad to in some practical work in that direction? The formed to rule had he not overlooked the prowhole town is as mal-odore-whenever a neavy rain, like that of Thursday

In China they use as a means of identification, the print of a man's thumb. Whenever a man falls into the hands of any officer of the law; one of the first things done is to take a print of his thumb: it is smeared with lampblack, partially wiped, and then pressed down upon a piece of fine white rice paper. Let any one examine the print of his thumb taken in this way, and he will find that it presents a curious and interesting diagram of tiny ridges or cords wound round and round in intricate spirals. And no two thumbs in all the world are exactly alike. A student of thumb prints is said to recognize with a great deal of precision the identity of an individual. The Chinese police place more confidence in a thumb print, than in the photo, of a face as a guarantee of identity among Chinese physiognomies. Our authorities would do well to look into this matter. They no doubt understand doing things by rule of thumb, postponed in consequence of the small pox epi- and appreciate highly the situation of a man demic will take place on Friday next. Professor under their thumb. But let them take lessons Berger will be the conductor and the Royal in thumb delineation; and when they get their thumb on a man, to be sure and take his thumb, in case they may want him again. Thumb things can be done as well as others.

A boy who inhabits Beretania street, tried an old joke on his aunt. "Say, Auntie, have you heard about Mr.

Brown ?" "Why no, dear. What has happened to him? "This morning he got up early."

"Yes, yes, and had an-"Wait till I tell you. He got up early and rubbing his hands together, said he felt very

"And then one of his turns came on," put in Auntie in an excited tone. "Just wait. He said he felt very well. Mrs. Brown was doing some popovers at the stove, and Brown he went out to throw some paddy to the hens. He came back to the house, still rubbing his hands and saying that he felt well.' we presume that this precautionary advice will "Why don't you go on? What happened? "Wait, I say auntie, till I get breath. I've run all the way, over five blocks. Well, he sat down, and just gobbled up the popovers. When molished. BRITISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

The Annual Meeting of the British Benevoent Society, was held on Saturday evening last in the parlor of the Hawaiian Hotel. There was an unusually full attendance of members. The Chair was taken by Major J. H. Wodehouse, British Commissioner to these Islands. After the Secretary, J. S. Smithies, Esq., had read the Minutes of the last Annual Meeting, the Treasurer presented the following Balance Sheet:

RECEIPTS. Balance on hand, 24th May, 1880..... $ 239 42 one life member ... t proceeds of concert, given at the New Music Hall, by the Honolulu Iron Works Musical Association, and others... Collected by the Treasurer, from 129 subscribers, Total ..... $2060 02

For the relief of 17 persons

For printing and advertising, and for use of chairs at the concert.

ared for till death, and buried at the expense of the Society; 2 have been assisted to leave the country; 3 are no longer in distress; and 4 are still drawing assistance Hon. Godfrey Rhodes, said that thanks were due to the gentlemen who have assisted to collect the various sums named in the Balance Sheet. They must congratulate themselves on the way in which the business of the Society

the Treasurer's Report. Mr. E. B. Thomas, seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously. The Vice-President, Rev. A. Macintosh, noved a vote of thanks to those members of their own Society, who had taken an active part in the concert, by which a considerable sum had been raised for the benefit of the Society. The thanks of the Society had already been tendered to those who are not members, who had so kindly assisted at the concert, and he thought, that his present motion was one which should not be

The motion was duly seconded and carried. Mr. Young, remarked that in going round to collect subscriptions, he and others had been met with the remark, that it was only those of one nationality that obtained any assistance from the Committee. He should like to ask the Treasurer, if he could tell him the nationalities of those who had been helped during the past

Hon. Mr. Cleghorn, in reply said, that the record had been kept and he was able to state that of the 17 relieved during the past year: 6 were Englishmen, on whom was expended $816 50; 7 were Irishmen, $221 50; 2 Scotchmen, $40; 1 British Indian, $99 50; and 1 a West Indian Islander, $71 50.

Hon. G. Rhodes, remarked that he knew from his own experience, that it was necessary to use much caution in giving relief of the character this Society desired to dispense.

Hon, Mr. Cleghorn, said, he had made it a rule not to give relief in any case, except on the written order of the Vice-President or the Com-Mr. Young, enquired if the Vice-President ing the assent of the Relief Committee to his After some remarks on this point, from Mr.

Bickerton and others; The Vice-President rose and said, that in this matter he found he was a delinquent, as the rules of the Society did not confer such authority upon him. The cases in which he had thus record, promptly capitulated and ordered the acted were some of extreme urgency, in several nuisance to be carried off to the neighborhood of of them, as would be seen from the Treasurer's some one else's nostrils. When is all the talk Report, the recipients of relief had been at about sanitary measures for Honolulu to result | death's door. He should, however, have con-

> certainly do so in future, if he held office again. The Vice-President and other Officers of the | Discharged Cured, Society were then unanimously re-elected as follows:-Vice-President, Rev. A. Macintosh; Treasurer, Hon. A. S. Cleghorn; Secretary, Mr. J. S. Smithies; Consulting Committee, Hon. G. Rhodes, and Messrs. Young and Geo. Lucas. A vote of thanks to the Officers and Commit tee of the Society, for their services during the past year, was passed by acclamation. The Vice-President, said that it was desirable to take the sense of the meeting, as to the propriety of continuing the Quarterly Meetings, which are ordered by the rules. In compliance with a resolution passed at the last Annual Meeting, these had been duly called at the end of the first and second quarters of the year, but no one attended, except the members of the committee. The end of the third quarter falling in the midst of the small-pox epidemic, a meeting had not then been called. He should like to know the view of the meeting on

Some discussion followed and the propriety of ontinuing to celebrate the Anniversary of the Society, by a dinner or supper was raised by Dr. Robt. McKibbin, who said that many subscribers objected to paying $2 50 for a dinner ticket, in addition to the annual subscription.

He for one would like to see the thing done away with. Mr. E. B. Thomas, said that many members objected to the supper, because they would like to see it replaced by a dance, to which they could bring their wives and daughters. Hon. Mr. Cleghorn, said that various methods of celebrating the day had been attempted. When there was no other attraction than the ordinary business of the Annual Meeting, they found members did not attend. They had tried lectures and addresses, and these had been found too dry, and he thought the present method had proved (a voice "too wet") more generally successful than any other. It was, vareful consideration, in order to see if a change were desirable, and he would suggest that a men not connected with the Managing Committee, should be appointed to consider and report upon it. The Treasurer's suggestion was adopted, the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to deal with the question: Messrs, Bickerton, Freeth, E. B. Thomas, Young and Dr. Hutchinson. No resolution as to the Quarterly Meetings was passed, but it was understood that they would be called as usual in accordance with the existing rule. The strictly business part of the evening's proceeding being now at gestion adjourned to supper.

After supper, in proposing the toast of the Majesty Queen Victoria. It requires little comnot his numerous engagements prevented him to be in the right. Why was this examination from opening the Melbourne Exhibition, we might perhaps have had the pleasure of welcoming in this city the heir to the Throne of Great Britain. I was aware that the Prince of Wales wished to visit these Islands, and last year I served his ghost, like Banquo," will a received a message from him that he would give me warning if he was able to pass this way. We are, it must be confessed, rather unfortunate -but for the troubles on our South African frontier, we should have seen the Detached Squadron here in June or July. We may, I think, still hope to see these ships bearing to our shores the two youthful sons of the Prince of Wales, later in the year, but on this head I cannot say more at present. I am sure it would afford both pride and pleasure to all of you to see five fine ships under the Cross of St. George call on you, my fellow-countrymen, to drink with me the health of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria." The toast was drank with enthusiasm. The Royal Hawaiian Band played God Save the Queen, and all present joined in the loyal strain. There was only one other toast on the programme of the eveningthe health of Her Royal Highness the Princess Regent. Its announcement was received with a Total...$2060 02 burst of applause, in response to which the Note .- Out of the 17 persons relieved: 8 have been Band struck up "Hawaii Ponoi," interrupting the remarks of the Chairman. The order of things was therefore reversed; the toast was drank whilst this Hawaiian National Anthem was being played, and at its close Major Wodehouse continued, "I will now resume the re marks I was about to make. I believe Her Highness is animated by a sincere desire to kingdom of many islands, the Hawaiian Kingmaintain the most friendly relations with the had been conducted. He moved the adoption of country to which we belong, and is also animated by a desire for the welfare of all who become citizens of her country, and to promote by every means in her power the prosperity of the Hawaiian Kingdom.'

The remainder of the evening was pleasantly passed, and numerous songs were sung-nationsentimental, or comic, according to the humor of those who thus contributed to the evening's entertainment. About half-past eleven the Chairman called upon all present to join in singing "Auld Lang Syne," and the proceedings were brought to a close. Eightytive gentlemen sat dow... to this entertainment.

Mr. Editor:-I have perused your valuable paper to-day, and find many things of interest

Pinafore is eulogised in very high terms, only through the columns of your own paper, but also through the Press, and certainly, through the idea conveyed to us by reporters, that performance must have been rendered "par excellence." Again, notes from Hawaii, Maui and Kauai are good, and the prospect certainly must be gratifying to the agencies here, schools are opened again, the small-pox epidemic is fast subsiding, and matters generally are assuming features which I should think. please the most fastidious of your many readers and subscribers. But how about Polua? I see through your paper he was hung yesterday. Well, it is now to be hoped that some of the beloved, who clamored for the "Old Testament" doctrine: "An eye for an eye;" "a tooth for a tooth;" and "a life for a life," are satisfied. On the same day Polua was strangled in the jail vard, another native lost his life by the falling of Father Larkin's cheap labor school-house. Thus you see two more of the bone and sinew of the country which belongs to them are gone, although they were no better than "Aliens," as far as its laws are concerned. These things in connection with the small-pox have caused more than one good citizen to ask how long can these people last. If the small-pox breaks out on Hawaii and Maui, and assumes like proportions nowever, desirable that the matter should have to what it did on Oahu, how many of his own people will be able to welcome the return of our King to his dominions. And by the way, can you answer a pertinent question, I heard asked committee of three or five, all of them gentle- on the street yesterday? Would Polua have been hung, if his Majesty had been home? Verily, I think not; and if his gracious Majesty had been here, Polua would still have been in the land of the living, fitter for some other purpose than hanging. By the way, Mr. Editor, a petition was sent into circulation, in behalf of Polua, and which caused great consternation in certain directions. This petition was signed by a large number of our citizens, and was then presented to Her Royal Highness, the Princess Regent. The "bomb-shell" caused a great commotion in the camp. The thing was taken before the Privy Council, even the Supreme Judges were called on to take part on this momentous occasion. A large number of peoan end, the company at the Chairman's sug- ple who had signed the petition were summoned before this "Star Chamber Tribunal," to say why they had asked for the further lease of a human being's life, who I am sorry to say evening, Major Wodehouse said: "The first as a majority, "went back on their word," and toast which I have to propose is that of Her like a lot of school boys, said "I am sorry, but I wont do it any more." Now sir, "why is this thus." In the absence of his Majesty have we ment from me, and I will only remark that the | not a Regent, and could she not settle the quesesteem and respect with which she is regarded tion of the life or death of one of her own not only by her own subjects but by members subjects. "Oh tempora, Oh mores." Again, of other nationalities was never more clearly people on the streets are asking about the post mortem on Polua. One said he had heart shown than on the occasion of the performance disease. Many said he had not. It was agreed of H. M. S. Pinafore, on Tuesday evening last, and understood there should be a post mortem when the whole audience rose and remained examination. Dr. Hoffman even went so far, standing during the singing by the Company as to inform and invite the different medical men in the city to attend. This would have and the poor creature burst into tears. and chorus of "God save the Queen." It may very easily settled a vexed question, and one in not be without interest for you to know that had | which the one against the many is now believed many occasions to worry those who would not say spare him.

And now altering the subject, please let me say a few words about dogs. To people living in Honolulu, I think a special prayer should be allowed, something in this wise: From dogs that fight, and growl all night. "Good Lord deliver us." I think if a bounty of 2 cents per tail was paid for the extermination of dogs in Honolulu, an enterprising man might in the course of two or three weeks make a very good iving. Again, according to a neat calculation, I find that if all the dogs in his Majesty's Kingdom were killed and made into Bologna sausages, the result would be that Honolulu could stand a siege for thirty-five years (as far as food is concerned). Last night I slept, and lo I had a dream. I saw in my dream, a shape of a mighty dog, and before him spread a beautiful kingdom of many islands. And as with exceeding fear I watched this mighty dog; he he opened his mouth, and without any apparent effort, he swallowed this kingdom of many islands. And lo this monster had the power of uttering a strange language, and as he stopped for a moment to digest this sweet morsel of a kingdom, I heard him utter the strange words, "Uncle Sam, and annexation." Then as he took his swift way through the air in the direction of Canada; I heard him mutter the strange words, "Monroe Doctrine," and exceeding great was my perplexity. Then I called unto me Daniel, and said unto him, "Oh, Dan, explain unto me my dream." And Dan opened his mouth and said unto me: "Oh! you sardine, can't you read the writing on the wall?" And I say, "nay verily." Then said Dan unto me: "The log was the United States, and the beautiful don, and now, oh sardine! any fool should know what the cabalistic words ' Monroe Doctrine' and 'Canada' meant." And lo! Dan departed leaving me greatly wondering at his wisiom. And then I awoke from my sleep and there was a hungry kanaka canine under each window, and a brigade of them in the yard. They were singing ! a chorus which may have been called very fine by dog-fanciers, but I be 'dog-goned' if I appreciated any such 'doggerel" by the dogs, so I soon dogged their footsteps out of the yard. But seriously, Mr. Editor, there are, I think more dogs in Honolulu (and they are starved worthless curs too), than any other city of its like proportions on earth. They are of no use to anybody, six out of seven pay no tax, and I only hope the dog slayers may soon come along and exterminate them. "Ky Yi", Bow wow. Yours truly,

HONOLULU, May 22nd, 1881.

Mr. Editor:- The tone of that very respectable paper, the Saturday Press, when discussing native Hawaiian affairs, probably affords satisfaction to those gentlemen for whom the articles are written, but in spite of all disclaimers the directing spirit is not far to seek. The cloven-foot will not be concealed. It protrudes too frequently for any mistake as to its identity

J. R. S.

Why should every disparaging remark be made against Hawaiians as a people apart from other dwellers in the country? Why should they be so continually singled out and held up to contempt on every possible and impossible The article commencing "The angry letter"

although it coquets with the question underlying all others touching natives and foreigners

on Hawaiian soil, evades meeting or even approaching it. That commencing, "A most amusing article," seems to aim at making the native ridiculous and his Government equally Where was the occasion for copying such a. wretched piece of inanity into a respectable paper ? It is an ill bird that fouls his own nest.

But a different creature stings his benefactor to Every effort, however, long continued or well dissembled, to "supplant" the people of these islands, if we may fortell the future from what is past, will meet an end worthy its inception.

The life of a nation, when the majority desire to to preserve it, is not so easy of extinction. It may be that if these immigrants from the Azores never return to the place of their birth. they will become Hawaiians, not supplanting the true Hawaiian people, but helping to fill up the gaps in the ranks, and settle the lands wanting hands to till them, just as in the economy of nature the British Islands long ago were colonized by swarms of men of Scandinavian and descendants of the original dwellers in the land: or as the United States are being filled at the present day by hosts of people from the contient of Europe and the British Islands. Does anybody believe that the settlement of Great Britain by those hordes of men was not the means of making her what she now is ? or that the crowds of people now finding a home in the United States will supplant the citizens of that favored land? No, the next generation of those people will be as truly American as the descendants of other citizens, and will help to strengthen the country instead of being an element of weakness. And so should it be here if honest men have the direction of affairs; if the life of the nation is not bartered away by those whose duty it is to preserve and transmit it sound and strong to a succeeding generation The infusion of new blood, if the operation is honestly and skilfully performed, must invigorate the system, and the continued introduction of civilized men and women will tend to perpetuate the Hawaiian people and Government instead of supplanting them. The Hawaiian Constitution, honestly administered may render prosperous and happy a multitude of people whether of mixed or unmixed race; and in ages yet to come, descendants of the original stock of these islands may enjoy its blessing in common with those of other lands who find it to its beneficent influence.

To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser: SIR:-The Gazette believes in inquests in cases of death attended by suspicious circumstanes, or from preventable causes, as in the the case of the boy killed by the fall of Father Larkin's school-house. The principle is one in which, wi ha great many others, I too, believe; and the shameful neglect of autopsies and inquests in suspicious cases of death has been so apparent in many cases as to make any special comment superfluous.

It has simply amounted to this; that the authorities have done as they pleased, regardless of the opinions of others in these matters. But. now that an era has been ushered in when preventable deaths are to be accounted for by those whose neglect of precautionary measures has been responsible therefor, let us hope that a spirit of fairness and fearlesness will prevail, and render to all culprits their just dues, whether they be priests or laymen, patricians or plebeians. Hundreds of men, women and children through the agency of a fell disease (for the introduction and extension of which some person or persons are responsible) are rotting in the sands of Kahakaaulana-and yet not an inquest ! But may we no trust that the awakened spirit which has looked beyond the mere proximate cause of death in one case, may we do so in the other? Shall we-can we

In a certain restaurant the other night a waiter was apologizing for the dilapidated state of the napkin. "Don't mention it," responded the customer, sadly. "I don't mind the boles in the least. That part of your napkin is always sure to be clean.

"I don't believe in these secret societies," said one woman to another. " That's very singular," replied the other. " Your busband is a Forester, a Knight of Pythias, and a Knight of Honor, and you will have at least $60 when he dies." " But what good does all that do me,"
